“ Sean was a wonderful student in my first year seminar class. He was a joy to have in class and always had a smile. He enjoyed learning about the subject of law and weighed in on conversation when he had something meaningful to say. He made me smile when I handed back research papers that could be rewritten and he said with a smile, "I'm happy with my grade." He had done a great job and knew there was no need to do the re-write. Sean was a special young man that I feel honored and privileged to have taught.

My thoughts and prayers are with the entire family.
